

PAVA COMMUNICATION AND PRIVACY POLICY

All official email communications from the PAVA organization are sent from one of the following two emails:

PAVA Exhibits: pavaexhibit@gmail.com - used for internal communications to complete distribution list of the active membership

PAVA Secretary: pava.secretary@gmail.com - used for internal communications to complete distribution list of the active membership

PAVA Inc: PAVApublicity@gmail.com - used for external, promotional communications to both members and patrons

You will NEVER receive an email from a member's private email address that is an official PAVA communication. Should you receive such emails, no matter how official they may look, they are the opinion of the sender and may or may not reflect the position of the PAVA Board of Governors.

The Professional Association of Visual Artists (PAVA) is a limited liability corporation (LLC), incorporated under the laws of the state of Florida and authorized as a non-profit organization by both the state and federal governments.

As with all US Corporations, the PAVA Board of Governors has the legal and moral obligation to make all operational, directional and financial decisions on behalf of the corporation and its members, that most equitably serve the membership majority of ALL members and advance the chartered goals and objectives of the organization, while maintaining the health and well being of the legal corporation.

PAVA respects your privacy and does not publish, share or sell your contact information within the organization or to external parties.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding PAVA at any time, please direct them to one of the two official internal only communication emails: pavaexhibits@gmail.com or pava.secretary@gmail.com Rest assured that your thoughts and concerns will be shared with the entire PAVA Board of Governors for consideration.
